

SERVICE AVAILABLE TO FLOOD VICTIMS ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION (Mediation Services) INFORMATION SHEET

Coconino County Superior Court provides an alternative dispute resolution (ADR) service through which you can participate in mediation. Mediation can assist parties with amicably settling their disputes or cases. We are aware that some disputes have arisen in the flood area between neighbors, and residents may want to consider taking advantage of this service to resolve their issues. This service is initially being offered at no cost to flood victims.

Below are some facts about the program. If you have questions, then please call the Coordinator, Sidney Buckman, at 928-679-7508 or email him at sbuckman@courts.az.gov.

- The ADR office chooses a mediator or mediator team from the ADR mediator list
- Mediation dates are set by the ADR office
- The ADR office files Notice of the mediation date with the Court (if the case is ordered by the Court) and sends copies to the parties
- Mediations occur at the Coconino County Courthouse
- After mediation, the ADR office files a Notice with the Court (if the case is ordered by the Court) regarding the outcome of mediation
- Then the ADR office is no longer involved with the case
